

Music For Little Angels And Those Who Care For Them!

Dear Parents,

February 12, 2020

Did you know that we have a music class for young children? There is so much research about how babies and young children develop. Music making activates more areas of the brain than any other activity. It is one of the best things you can do with young children. By the way, it also good for our brains!

We will be having a Music For Little Angels class. Parents, Grandparents or anyone who cares for your child is welcome to attend with a child or children birth through three years of age. We will sing, move, play instruments, play “wiggle me tickle me” games and listen to music. We always end with a gentle blessing song. Resources are provided so that you can continue the fun at home.

Here are the details:

Starting Wednesday February 26th

We will meet in the Music Room

10:45 am-11:15 am

Cost: $25.00 per 8 week session (Due at the first class..)
